

Instructor, Lecturer or Senior Lecturer Civil and Environmental Engineering

The Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering (CEE) at the South Dakota School of Mines & Technology invites applications for a nine-month term Instructor, Lecturer or Senior Lecturer to teach undergraduate and/or graduate Civil Engineering, Construction Engineering and Management and/or other classes as needed. A Master's degree in Civil Engineering or a closely related field is required by the start date of employment; a doctorate is preferred. A January or August 2015 start date is possible. This is a one year benefited term position with the possibility of extension dependent upon performance, department need and funding.

Established in 1885, the South Dakota School of Mines & Technology is a technological research university located in Rapid City, South Dakota. The School of Mines is a public university offering bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees in engineering and science. Known for our academic rigor, we maintain a 14:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Our students benefit from immersive learning experiences including undergraduate research, co-ops/internships, and numerous nationally competitive engineering teams. Our graduates have a 98% placement rate and an average starting salary of $65,600. Our Research Programs are concentrated in four areas: Energy and Environment; Materials and Manufacturing; STEM Education; and Underground Science. The School of Mines enrolls more than 2,700 students from 45 states and 39 countries. Rapid City is the state's second largest city (with an urban population of 70,812 and metropolitan population of 141,431) and is nestled at the foot of the beautiful Black Hills. Mount Rushmore, the Badlands National Park and Crazy Horse Memorial are all within an hour of the University. Rapid City enjoys a relatively mild climate and offers year-round recreational opportunities, including, hiking, bicycling, skiing, snowboarding, fishing, and hunting, to name a few.
